

XXIII AINI Congress
Italian Association of Neuroimmunology
Milan (Italy), August 22, 2013

*Satellite meeting organized in conjunction with the 15th International Congress of Immunology (I.C.I.)
August 22-27 2013
Milan, Italy*

Aim of the Meeting

AINI carries out its activity in the field of scientific research, continuous education, whether distance or residential and professional updating through annual meetings and the development of annual programs of educational CME activities. AINI fosters meetings, exchange and scientific collaboration between researchers from different fields such as neurology, immunology, biology, pharmacology, biochemistry, clinical pathology and other basic and clinic sciences focused on the knowledge and practice of Neuroimmunology as a field studying both the morphological and functional aspects at a cell, sub-cell and molecular level of the interactions between the immune and nervous systems and the immune-pathogenic mechanisms, immunological diagnosis and immunological treatment of the nervous system diseases.

The 2013 Meeting of the AINI, in a shorter form than usual and in conjunction with the ICI is intended to provide participants a unique chance to directly deal with the most relevant and outstanding topics in basic and clinical immunology and to interact with the worldwide most expert scientists in the field.
